MUSICAL AND DRAMATIC NOTES. At the Madison Square Theatre they have accepted a new piece-it is a comedy-by Mr. Young, the author of "Jonquii" and "Pendragon." Mr. Young is now in London.

On Monday, May 7, at the Standard Theatre, Miss Alice May, the English prima donna, will make her first appearance in America, in Eaffe's spectacular opera, "Saianella," which will be produced with entirely new scenery, costumes and properties.

A new Scriptural operetta, entitled "David, the son of Jesse," libretto by Mr. E. S. Brooks and music by Professor E. C. Phelps, both of Brooklyn, will be given at the Brooklyn Academy of Music on Monday evening, April 16.

Mr. Mapleson's spring season closed yesterday with a smooth and enjoyable performance of "Faust" at the matinée. The Academy of Music was growded in every part with one of the largest audiences of this or any season. The Arion Society will give a concert, in

Steinway Hall, on Sunday evening. April 22, assisted by Mr. John F. Rhodes (violin), Mr. Jacob Graff, Mr. Franz Remmertz, and a grand orchestra under direction of Herr Max Brach. We were requested, a day or two ago, by letter-from a person claiming to represent Mr. Harry Watkins-to state that a new play, called " Lillian," had been written by Mr. Watkins, and produced, quietly and obscurely, on Monday night, April 9, at the Turf Club Theatre, with the daughter of Mr. Watkins in a leading character, and for the purpose of testing the piece as material for the Watkins Family to star with next sea-son. The information proves to have been untrust-worthy in one important particular. The play was, in fact, "New Men and Old Acres."

MILWAUKEE, April 14 .- Ludwig Barnay appeared here last night at the Grand Opera House as King Lear and was warmly received. There was no standing room in the building after the performance begun. There were twenty-two recalls.

MRS. LANGTRY AND MISS LANGTRY.

Among the persons who were registered at the St. Nicholas Hotel last night were A. Mackenzie, of Toronto, and Miss Langtry. Mrs. Langtry will be at the Albemarie to-day. A TRIBUNE reporter called on Miss Langtry and Mr. Mackenzie last night. Mr. Mackenzie apologized for Miss Langtry's noneppearance owing to the lateness of the hour. "Miss Langtry is not partial to reporters, you know," he said. "That little matter about the luggage was most shamefully abused. There is no unpleasantness at all between her and Mrs. Langtry. It was said that Mrs. Langtry had refused to forward Miss Langtry's luggage to Terente. That was not true, as Miss Langtry re-ceived it all right. Miss Langtry thinks the Canadians charming. She was in society a great deal Canadian's charming. She was in society a great occa-in Toronto and enjoyed herself amazingly. She returns to England by the City of Richmond to morrow. I will be her excert, as I am going across on business. I have to visit England twice a year to buy for my firm, and this is one of my regular trips. I had met Miss Langity in England, and she was very glad of the opportunity to my wife in Toronto."
o you think she will be unpleasantly treated in and on account of the newspaper reports of her here i"

"Oh, no. They understand these things better in England. Mrs. Langtry and her sister are well known there, and these reports are valued at their true worth. Miss Langtry does not mind the little things that have been printed from time to time about her slater-in-law. I believe, in fact Mrs. Langtry never reads the papers, and Mms. Nilsson's statement to the dees the true surver to the question. Why did it go so far with Mr. Freddle i' When she did read one story of their acquaintance she could not, as a lady, throw up her friend on that account."

RILLED BY THE FALL OF A BALCONY.

A number of persons gathered in the rooms of Mrs. Riley on the second floor of No. 144 Elm-st. last night. They became noisy and William Deman, who lived on the first floor, went up to have the noise stopped. A fight ensued, and some of the people in the room rushed out on the balcony. The balcony fell and the persons were thrown to the ground, John White, colored, was killed and Mrs. Riley was fatally injured and was taken to St. Vincent's Hos-pital. Deman was arrested.

CLOSE OF THE 718T REGIMENT FAIR.

The Seventy-first Regiment Fair closed last night. The prize, an album, for the most popular lady connected with the fair was voted to Mrs. H. C. Dexier, The Grand Army sword was awarded to Major Builard The award for the most popular commissioned officer in the First or Second Corps was won by Captain S. G. Blake First or Second Corps was won by Captain S. G. Blakeley. The sword for the most popular officer in the Regular Army or the National Guard was awarded to Colonel George D. Scott. The officers of the fair said last evening that the total receipts would amount to not less than $18,000.

A RUNAWAY IN THE PARK.

Miss Blair, of No. 305 West Eighty-fourthat , ant by the side of her coachman, Peter Parsons, in a light wagon yesterday morning. At the Eighty-fourthat gate on the West Drive of Central Park the horse became frightened and turning suddenly upset the wagon and dashed through the gate. Paraons was thrown out. Miss Blair clining to the wagon. Park Policeman Foley caught the horse. Save a few bruises Miss Blair was undurt.

SUSPECTED OF WIFE-MURDER.

Michael Norton, age thirty, of No. 183 Mercer-st., Jersey City, was arrested by Police Captain Farrier at 12 o'clock last night, on suspicion of having murdered his wife. Norton was drunk and some of the neighbors say that he heat his wife.

REMARKS OF JOSEPH MEDILL.

HIS RECENT TRIP TO FLORIDA-SOME REASONS WHY HE CAME TO NEW-YORK-A SHORT SPEECH BY DR. HOLMES. About eighty members of the Lotos Club sat down to an informal dinner last evening at the clubhouse in Fifth-ave. The dinner was originally intended to be a sort of club reunion. The occasion was rendered particularly enjoyable by the presence of two distinguished gentlemen now visiting this city. The Hon. Joseph Medill, Editor-in-chief of The Chicago Tribune, and ex-Mayor of Chicago, came in about 9 o'clock, and was warmly received. Half an hour afterward Dr. Fordyce Barker and Dr. Oliver Wendeil Holmes appeared. These gentlemen had just arrived from the house of Cyrus W. Field, by whom a dinner was given last night in honor of Dr. Holmes,

The members of the club rose to their feet as Dr. Holmes entered, and continued cheering until he had taken his place at the President's side, when he bowed his acknowledgments and took his seat. After a few moments spent in general conversation, the company was called to order and the distinguished guests presented by Mr. Reid to those as sembled. Dr. Holmes responded in a charming speech, full of gratitude to the club and to New-Yorkers for the hospitality that he had received on every hand and at every hour during his present visit to New-York. He could think of nothing better or more clublike to talk about than his experiences in a somewhat kindred club in Boston-the Saturday Club-with which he had been connected for thirty years. He enumerated the members-Longfellow, Agassiz, Lowell and othersand devoted to each a few sentences of personal portraiture. In the midst of this, turned to the reporters and specially asked that a specific account of what he was saving should not be printed, as what he was willing to say to the club he would not feel warranted in saying in any more public way. His remarks were received with constant applause, every sentence being interrupted with the clapping of hands, and as he took his seat the whole company rose again and cheered to the

A peem by Edmund C. Stedman, written for Dr. Holmes's birthday, was then read by Mr. Burbank, Mr. Reid then called on Dr. Fordyce Barker, who responded briefly.

The president then introduced the Hon. Joseph Medill, ex-Mayor of Chicago and Editor and chief proprietor of The Chicago Tribune, as an old chief under whom he had served, and added some playful personal characteristics.

chief under whom he had served, and added some playful personal characteristics.

This is my first appearance among you, and I find that I was mistaken in the meaning of the name of your association or club. I supposed that after you had discussed the viands, you would pass off into dreamland—that the Loos leaf would be passed around, and that the American fruity of speech-making would be passed, that it would be a "silent meeting," in other words. If I had supposed that the President of this club would have placed me in my present predicament, I think I would have taken my leaf at home and sent my regrets. [Laughter.]

The President of your club says that he presents me before you with mingled feelings of frieadsilp and anger. Well, I have feeling also. [Laughter.] I have a feeling of chagrin. In one sense, he escaped from my service without due invitation or provocation, as I thought. He was snatched out from a position where I found him a useful man. I was making a good deal of money for the newspapers at the time that Ried was "doing" Washington for the Chicago Tribone. The first thing I was making a good deal of money for the newspapers at the time that Rold was "doing" Washington for the Chicago Pribane. The first thing I knew, he was leaving men about notice, and to particular reason given. I suspected it was a question of salary, but he never said so: [Laughter, He quit Chicago, came to New-York and took charge of another TRIBUNE. I supposed for a long time he would the of it and would come back to his original expleyment, but he is away yet, and I am afraid he is really a farmer here and that we will have to declare his place vacant and fill it with another man. [Laughter.]

I have been spinding a few weeks past in what was reported to me before I left home as the Italy of this country. I found it was an Italy with some exceptions, I speak now of Florida. As it was the American traly so-called, and not having any rendy writer along with me. I was colled to do a little pennanship myself, so I recalled some letters that I had written home in resemt to Italy. I discovered pretry soon that I was getting myself into tendle. Your President of New-Yorg, the President of the United States, evidently had been reading these letters. He came down to Italy to see the country. [Laughter.] I was talking about orange groves and banama parehas, lemonales, Early Rose polators, and fill at sort of thing, and pretry soon I found that the President was coming down in an express trail—I presume to see whether my description of the country was justifiable—and about that time I had business North, and I left. [Laughter.] and pretry would let me tak to until I got through. Laughter.] So, not being restricted, I will tell you what brouget me to New-York For a long time, running has ke where the memory of man runnerh not we have been in the habit in the West, in political matters, in the party I being for, and I believe in the party in the owner of the first of the rule on hoth sides. [Laughter.] I have had some notion, centlemen, for some three party with the sound of the firm of many doctors—but his sown to the p

I was very happy to meet my old friend screas the table, Mr. Knox, when I came in, before taking my seat. He is an old enabley also of my paper to a certain extent, and he also fled from my service. For several years past I have only met Mr. Knox going to far distant countries or returning from some country still further off. The last time I saw Mr. Knox he did not see me. It was in Paris hast summer. He was crossing one of the bonlevards assisting a hady—protecting her from being run over, I suppose, by the carriag s-acting has a sort of policeman, I imagine, or something else. I haughter, I I ran after him, forcetting I was in a very politic city, and I shouted "Knox, Knox, Knox," but he disn't hear me, and it could not think of the French name. [Langaler,] I am happy, gentlemen, to meet you all, and to make your acquaistance, and when I become a little more battered in the battle of hie I shall provably do like a great many other Western men do, come to New-York to pass my declining days. When that time arrives I shall mape to be received as a member of your citio, and I now make my application for membership. [Applause.]

After a few remarks by A. A. Cohen, Dr. A. E. Macdonald made a speech, filled with humor and I was very happy to meet my old friend scross the Macdonald made a speech, filled with humor and with pointed allusions to several persons present. Referring to Dr. Holmes, he said:

"We have never entertained Dr. Holmes before. We have tried to get him here often, but he has always shown that reluctance about leaving Massachusetts so characteristic of the people of that place, but in that characteristic there has been but in that characteristic there has been manifested such a marked change since the last gubernatorial election. [Laughter,] I do not mean to say that that has anything to do with his arrival here, still less do I think his leaving the school at Cambridge has anything to do with a certain investigation of an institution which I do not indicate or name, except so far as to say that the last half of its name was an evident misnomer." [Laughter

Brief addresses was also made by J. J. Burdette F. H. Brosnan, R. Swain Gifford, Junius Henri Browne and Paul B. Du Chailiu.

THE NEWHALL HOUSE ARSON TRIAL.

MILWAUKEE, April 14.-The Scheller trial is nearing a close. The examination of witnesses for the prosecution closed at noon yesterday, and the defence opened with an argument by Mr. Ebbets, who claimed that nothing had been proved to connect Scheller with the burning of the Newhall House. George Scheller took the binning of the Accural House. George Scheffer took the stand himself at this morning's session of the court, and told the story of his life. He recited the incidents of his connection with the Newhall House, and accounted for the stock on hand in the bar-room. His testimony agreed with th at of Bingham, who swore to finding him in bed on the morning of the fire.

THE FIRE RECORD.

CRISFIELD, Md., April 14 .- Fire here this mornin destroyed sixteen buildings. The loss is esti-mated at $100,000, and insurance about $40,000. PHILADELPHIA, April 14.—A four-story brick building at Randelph-st. and Montgomery-ave., occupied by C. A.

Blessing, manufacturer of plumbers' supplies, was burned this morning. Loss about $25,000. PRESTON, Ont., April 14.—The finishing shops of the foundry of P. A. Shantz were burned this morning. Loss $25,000; insured for $7,000.

DISCORD IN THE IROQUOIS CLUB.

AN ASTONISHING SPEECH BY MAYOR HARRISON-FREE TRADE NOT A WINNING PLANK FOR THE DEMOCRACY.

IBY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.

CHICAGO, April 14 .- An incident occurred at the Iroquois Club banquet last night which was not down on the bid, and which has served to create, in a certain measure, comment today among those who were present, and among Democratic leaders generally. Mayor Harrison, of this city, was mentioned for the concluding toast, and when he arose to speak it was after 2 o'clock in the morning. He immediately deserted the topic named for him and proceeded to discuss the tariff. Those preceding him who had ventured upon that topic made a full him who had ventured upon that topic made a fall advocacy of free trade, and the dissenting utterances with which the concluding speaker proceeded to fill up his time served, at least, to guarantee him the close attention of those present. His position was couched in the following extract from his

was conched in the following extract from his speech:

To-day, he said, you may make your tariff for revenue a plank in your next resolutions. You will split the Democratic party. Free trade was not Democracy at another time. Free trade was not Democracy at another time. Free trade was not Democracy at another time. Free trade was not Democracy to-day. In a part of Indiana they tell you "Give us protection to home industry," and Mr. Huribut himself says a tariff for revenue brings incidentally protection. Why talk of it then I You may win on a new doctrine, on a principle of that sort, when the finances are in a bad condition, when labor is not winning a proper reward; but you cannot bring on a change of that sort when a country is prosperous. You cannot change a policy of government which is fixed in the minds of the the people, when the people have living wages and are working every day for wages. Protection is a monster. Free trade is a thing for doctrinal people not educated up to it, it was a good time twenty years ago when we held the power of the Administration in Washington, but take that as your plank and you do not win trom the Republican party a single one of its adherents. You will drive thousands of our own people from our ranks and you will probately have a Presidential candidate writing a letter at the wrong moment that kills your platform.

The guests, as Mr. Harrison proceeded, sat aghast.

The guests, as Mr. Harrison proceeded, sat aghast. Mr. Bayard looked dark and moved away from the table. Thomas Hoyne, turning his back to the speaker, expressed his displeasure by shaking his aged head. Hurlbert and Vilas and Congressman Springer held a whispered conference. The club men—sat—glum, and—not—a—sylable of applause and escaped—them. Harrison, as the marks of disapprobation increased, grew—inore vehement, swung his hands over Springer's head—and shook his finger near Bayard's nose. I he moment the Mayor was done the gathering broke up without congratulating him and without applause.

"That," shouted Hoyne, "was the d——t outrage a guest ever perpetrated on a—host." "Harrison," answered—Levi Z. Leiter, in a loud voice, "is a—ass." A tariff for revenue only is the main plank in the platform of the Iroquois Club.

The papers this morning printed—a speech which had been given them as the one Mr. Harrison would deliver, and, owing to the late—hour, the true version was not given publicity, but will be published to-morrow. Springer held a whispered conference. The club

DESTRUCTIVE STORM IN ARKANSAS.

TOUSES SWEPT AWAY AND MANY PERSONS INJURE

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., April 14.-A dispatch to The Gazette from Ozark, Ark., says: Shortly before I o'clock this morning a disastrous fornado struck Railroad,ten miles west of this place, from the southwest A halfsterm followed, and lasted until the ground was covered with ice. F. H. Piser, postmaster, lost his store and residence and probably most of the mail. Turee hundred dollars in currence and. Mr. Piser was seriously injured about the spin L. R. H. Wallace's house, stable and store, occupied by J. C. Cox, were destroyed, as were also the houses of J C. McMurray and all others at that place. The path of the storm averaged three miles in width. It came from south of the river at a point near Waite Oaks. The telegraph wire was blown down for nearly four miles and us fences can be seen my where. Trees two and three feet in diameter were uprootel, broken and twisted like twirs. A carload of hunber was emptied, the side stakes being broken of short.

Reports of destruction of property and loss of life come from every direction. Thomas E. Ross and wife and William Herron, Iving one mile north of here, were fataily injured and their houses awept away. W. S. McCain, David Hall, John Brassre and one Wallace all lost their houses. Daniel Wode, William Hann and Z. Harper also lost all their buildings. The Union Church and schoolhouse, a mile northwest of here, are in ruins. Daniel Wode, William Hann and house is all that remains standing. F. J. Lewis's house and a half dozen others are in ruins. The tornado reached Conway, Faulkner County, on the same railway, in the afternoon from the northeast. Nothody was killed, but several persons were badly injured. The Catholic and Baptist churches are both destroyed. Hillard & Co.'s planing mili was swept away. The Bruce, Francenhal and Martin Breek blocks were mirrofed and the front of Brown's drug store was blown in. The total loss will probably exceed $50,000. south of the river at a point near White Oaks

THE PRINCESS LOUISE IN BOSTON.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 14.—The British frigate Tenedos, having on board Princess Louise, ar rived in Newport Harbor at 9 o'clock this morning, three and a half days from Bermuda. Captain C. G. Fane is it mmand. Two drawing-room cars were at the railway station at Newport waiting to take the Princess and be suite to Boston.

The Princess remained in her apartments the greater part of the voyage, not being well, notwithstanding the fact that the weather was a greeable.

Colonel De Winton, of Lord Lorde's party, arrived a Newport on Friday evening, bearing letters to the Prin cess from the Marquis. The Princess had intended to remain over Sunday at Newport, and the Marquis would have joined her here; but upon inquiry it was found that the hotel accommodations were unsuitable, and the programme was accordingly changed. Boston, April 14.-The Princess Louise and party arrived here at 5.45 o'clock from Newport, over the Old

Colony road. They were met at the depot by the Marquis, and the party were driven at once to the Hotel Brunswick, where they will rest quietly over Sunday. The Marquis of Lorne and Due de Blanas visited the various points of interest in this city this morning in a

THE WEEK IN SOCIETY.

DIVERSIONS OF THE OPENING SPRING. THE UNIVERSAL WELCOME TO DR. HOLMES-DIN-

THEATRICAL ENTERPRISES-COMING EVENTS. The Autocrat of the Breakfast Table-poet, humorist, novelist, physician, and charming man of the world-touches society at so many points that his ap-pearance in New-York has given to the week a genial individuality. New-York is too vast and too busy to stop long for one man. That society has so gladly con sented to think of little but Dr. Holmes for the last ten days is a great compliment to itself. As Dr. Barker's delightful house opened for Dr. Holmes, one could but remember the scene at the Century Club eighteen years ago, when Bryant attained his seventieth year, and this same vivacious Amarcan who now owns up to seventy-two greeted his brother poet with most felicitous verses. How steadily the stream has run on, and how little has the little man changed! Even then he deprecated New-York hospitality: now he declares that it is too much for mortal man. Such a reception, such a hand-shaking, to be followed by a dinner at Mrs. Astor's, and then, on Thursday, by the grent ovation of his brother doctors! Last night he dined at Cyrus W. Field's, and afterward was received with the warmest cordiality by the Lotos-eaters, to whom he made a speech even better than his poem for the doctors. Next Tuesday he will lecture before the Nineteenth Century Club; and so he goes from friend to friend, every where receiving the laurel wreath twined with rose

Monday opened fair, and the reception at Mrs. Peters's was very gay. The opera in the evening, though crowded and fashionable, was rather disappointing. "L'Etoile du Nord" needs other artists besides Patti. On Monday evening Mrs. John G. Hecksher gave a small dancing party at Delmonico's, probably the last ball but one of the season. The Madison Square Theatre was also filled by a very fashionable audience, gathered to see Mrs. Burton Harrison's translation of "The Honeymoon." Although beautifully mounted, many thought it had been better played by amateurs. It is exceedingly appropriate for an amateur performance, and Mrs. Potter has made it her own. Tuesday brought, as has been said, the crowded reception at Mrs. Barker's for Dr. Holmes, and mean weather as well. Wednesday, from three in the afternoon until twelve at night, was gay in Second-ave., as the Evarts mansion opened its hospitable doors. Tauraday belonged especially to Hymen. A large party went up to Sing Sing to see the gallaut young officer, Lieutenant Sloum, married to Miss Bran-dreth; Professor Drisier's second son married Miss Barhydt; Mr. Edwin Fuller Kingsbury married Miss Cregler; Mr. Charles H. Zabriskie married Miss Minnie E. Rogers; Mr. Miller and Miss Willard also were married at the same time and place, and Miss Cor-bett and Mr. Phillips chose the same auspicious day.

The charities and concerts (not charities and correc-tion) came in also in the evening, one of Mr. Korbay's always popular concerts filling Chickering Hall. One young girl, who played on the violia, attracted much ad-miration, and Miss Schenek sang delightfully. The con-cert at the Academy for the Woman's Exchange was crowded; Mr. John McGinnis gave a supper afterward at the Hotel Brunswick, at which Judge Barrett made a neat speech. Mr. and Mrs. George Edgar Montgomery also received their friends at the Bristol.

also received their friends at the Bristol.

A large and superb lunch was given by Mrs. F. P.
James at No. 400 Fifth-ave., on Thursday. Mrs. James received up-stairs, and the ladies descended to find the beautiful pariors, with their wealth of pictures and objets d'art, set full with little tables, each of which was laden with flowers, and straw wavelbarrows flired with sagar plums, and held a lamp or two or three candles; so that the gloomy rain storm without was scarcely to be beloved to. There were present Mrs. W. H. Vanderbilt, Mrs. Burton Harrison, Mrs. Livermore, Mrs. Slone, Mrs. Shepard, Mrs. Meagher, Mrs. Mathews, Mrs. Kingsland, Miss Anthon, Mrs. Sherwood, Mrs. Phelps, Mrs. Dinsmore, Mrs. Roosevelt, Miss Loney (recently engaged to Mr. Bruce Brown), Mrs. Post, and many others. Mrs. Del Monte also gave a lunch to twelve ladies. On the evening of this crowded day came the great dinner to

Dr. Helmes at Delmonico's.
On Friday the world rested until evening; but man must dine and go to the opera. There were many dinner and Patti's last performance drew an enthusiastic crowd. Indeed, the floral statistician says that there were never so many roses turown, nor were they ever so well picked up. Serrowful to relate, however, is it, that while this favorite of fortune is so profusely decorated, the bad weather of Tourselay kept the world from going to the entertainments for the Actors' Fund, and that excellent charity suffered. Meantime the indies of New-Brighton brought out very prettily the a mateur operetta "All on a snamer's Day" at the German Club House, for the deserving poet of the Island.

On Saturday there was a pleasant musicule at Mrs.

James M. Bailer's, one of saveral, and the line weather drew a multitude to the Park.
On Monday Mrs. William A. Boyd will give a reception at No. 45 West Fifty-third-st., and Mrs. Henry Sloan will give a dinner and ball at Delmonico's. On Tuesday evening Mrs. Doremus will give a reception for Madami Nilsson. On Wednesday comes Miss Colvill's wedding, with a reception at the house of the bride's mother, No. tephens, and a reception follows at No. 128 East Thirty fifth-st. On Wednesday evening Dr. and Mrs. Weld give a reception. On Taureday the Old Pellows are to give a ball at the Hoboken Club House; Mr. George I. Seney, , and Miss Grace Tappan will be married, at No. 49 East Sixty-eighth-si. On Friday the Amateur Dramatic Club will give a reception, and Mrs. D. Willis James young garls' party at No. 40 East Thirty-ninth-st. On Saturday the "Old Guard" will dine at Delmonico's. On Duesday, April 24, Miss Anna Dwight Baker is to marry Mr. J. Alden Weir, at the Church of the Ascension and a reception will follow at her mother's house. Kermiss, or Datch fair, will be held at Delmonico's on April 24, and on Wednesday, the 25th, Mr. F. S. Witherbee will be married to Miss Stewart at Grace Church sception at No. 6 Fifth-ave., and Mr. Charles T. Connor ill marry Miss Clara Lorraine Sands at the Church of

The ladies engaged in producing "The Princess" at the in the ranks of a private company, have more than filled the required roles, and find the sale of tickets going or onstantly and most encouragingly. "The Princess" scems to be in the air; the current number of Harper's Magazine has an exhaustive criticism upon Tennyson's poem, which seems to have been written to answer the coeducationists of to-day, and made to take the form of a pleasant running commentary upon all the criticisms of Dr. D.x's sermons. People should reread "The Princess" before going to see it, for the managerial sees sors have cut rather severely in order to make a lively and agreeable spectacle. Tennyson's songs, well sung will be a feature of the entertainment. Now, as the weather grows line and the Park grass gets green in a single day, the hant begins. The Essex County Hant came to grief on Orange Mountain, on Monday last; the Rockaway Hunt seems to have better luck, and certainly a better country. A ladies' dinner at Mrs. Wickes's from which gentlemen are rigidly excluded, must flud a place in the record. The engagement of Mr. Perry Belment to Miss Marlon Langdon is announced, and that of Miss Jennie Reming. on to Mr. William Pretyman, of Bournemouth, England Madame Niisson's last concert next Monday evening al ready threatens to be overcrowded.

As the season advances, we shall hear more of a grand aquatic triumph, a sort of Venetian fete, a Doge wee ting the Adriatic, for the "Bartholdi Fund." The harbo of New-York is a proper place for a great water feativa and can be made to look most brilliant. Witness a pi ture at the young artists' exhibition called " The Queen's Birthday," which shows our harbor in a setting of band ing. And we hear that it is the intention of the Bartholdi Committee to get up such a triumphal affai late in May, or early in June perhaps. As for private enterprises in the theatrical way, they are endless. Mrs. Parke Godwin tuvites her friends to a vaudeville, written by her son-in-law, Mr. White; notifer company is to produce " Everybody's Friend ' and at the next Thursday Evening Club, April 26, au operetta will be produced by the Misses Howard, Mrs. T. H. Ward and Miss D'Orémieuix, at the house of Mr. S. G. Ward, in Washington Square.

The summer resorts begin to call for some word of notice. Lord and Lady Mandeville and Mr. and Mrs. Clews are going to Newport, and so are Mr. and Mrs. William Oothout, Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Haven, the Rev. Dr Morgau, Mr. and Mrs. Tillinghast, and Mrs. Isaac Town send and her daughters.

Mrs. Paran Stevens and Miss Wolfe will be in Europe until August, and then will return to Newport for a brief An early hegira to Niagara is much talked of PEDESTRIANISM AND PHYSIOLOGICAL STIMU-LATION.—Among the eminent foreign names which have been conspicuous in the discussion of the alcohol question, is that of Mr. W. Mattien Williams, the distinguished writer and scientist, who gives it as his opinion that the only beverage for obtaining the maximum work out of any piece of human machinery is water, as pure as possible, while all other beverages, including even tea and coffee, ginger beer, and all such concections as the so-called temperance drinks, are prejudicial to anybody not under medical treatment. Mr. Williams declares KEVELUS.

that, to a sound-bodied man, there is no danger in drink-ing any quantity of cold water in the hottest weather, provided it is swallowed slowly; and in proof of this he mentions having himself taken as much as a dozen quarts in the course of a stiff mountain climb, when perspiring profusely, and never suffered the slightest inconvenience, but, on the contrary, water enabled him even to enjoy the burning rays of the sun.

PONDS EXTRACT is simply invaluable for our 240 students. I have used it for cases of Sprains. Brulses, and yardous forms of inflammation, with invarying success.

CORGE WASHBURN,

President Robert College.

Given in Gold to the Best.

When a question is finally settled it is sheer perversity to go on treating it as if it were still open to argument. Since Johnson, manufacturers of BENSON'S CAPCINE POROUS
PLASTERS, have claimed what they claim now, that those pliators were incomparably better than any and all others.
Manufacturers of rival plasters not unnaturally disputed this claim. How was the question to be settled! Obviously by submitting the various plasters, with the points at issue. to the judgment of competent and impartial persons. Pursuing this course, Measra Seabury & Johnson entered Benson's Plasters for examination and judgment at every important domestic and international exhibition for years. They were placed side by side with the plasters of the best-known makers of Europe and America, under conditions which ren-dered favoritism or unfairness a simple impossability. Now, what happened! In a series of thirty such exhibi-tions the manufacturers of Benson's Plasters bore off, on each and every occasion, the medal over all competitors. Is each and every occasion, the media over all competions, in not the inference as plain as plain can be! In all these cases the examinations were made and the decisions rendered by juries of leading medical men who had no conceivable mo-tive for entertaining the slightest blus-men in more open to "influence," if it were proposed to exert any than a blind man would be in a gallery of paintings. To state the case will man emphatically, the manufacturers of RECONNS. CAPCINE POROUS PLASTERS have never falled to re ceive the highest award at all exhibitions where they been represented, both on this continent and in Europe.

Now comes a fact of yet greater moment. At the late in-ternational exhibition at Matanzas, Mexico, where the plasters of the leading makers of Englathis country competed, the jury-after as unmeanly careful and prolonged examination—awarded to Messrs. Scabury & Johnson for their planters a gold medal—the coly one given for that class of goods. To understand this it must be re-membered that a gold medal is the highest and most significant award made for any exhibit. It means, not only that the article winning it is the best of its kind, but the best in a rare and exceptional sense; a sense which sets it apart from all rivalry and classifies it as a practically new invention or discovery of supreme excellence, importance and usefulness;—just what the telegraph is among means of communication, the cotton gun among buschines, or angesthetics among discoveries for use in surgery. What room is, therefore, left for discussion? If the vertices of these thirty successive juries of impartial experts does not settle the question at issue between the manufacturers of Benson's Plasters and their competitors, then evidence goes for nothing and the trained judga horde of Zulus on the intest theories in astronomy.
